

Bugaloe opens at the De Palm pier

If Friday night's opening party was an example of good times to come, then the popular new hangout will definitely be the Bugaloe Beach Bar and Grill, right on the water in Palm Beach. The De Palm Pier is located just between the Radisson Resort and the Aruba Grand, and is a prime location to enjoy the view while savoring a delectable snack or two and a refreshing drink.

Bugaloe is the dream of three long time Dutch residents of Aruba, Okko Bos, Ingrid Riko and Frank Gregoor, and the opening bash displayed they bring their warm hospitality to the Bugaloe, judging from the many friends that came to congratulate them. Samples of the menu, such as Salmon Wraps and crispy Coconut Shrimp were passed around, and the music of Robert Jeandor and his band had everyone on the dance floor.

Bugaloe offers a nice menu of classic light fare with some Mexican touches, varied wrap sandwiches, salads, calamari, nachos and more. It is the perfect place to watch the sunset and enjoy a drink, or to stop by for lunch or a light dinner. They are open from 9:00 AM to 11:00 PM and offer live music on Tuesdays, Fridays, and Sundays from 5:00 PM until whenever. Judging from the opening, it would appear to be a very friendly place to dine and enjoy the ambiance, where evidently the owners and staff were having just as much fun as the guests. See you there!
